Center for Judicial Education and Research

The Judicial Council of California's Center for Judicial Education and Research (CJER) educates the state's approximately 2,500 justices, judges, and subordinate judicial officers and nearly 20,000 court staff as required by California Rules of Court rules 10.451–10.491. California's judicial officers and court personnel participate in mandatory and elective in-person, live remote, and distance education to perform their responsibilities competently, impartially, and efficiently. Judicial Branch education supports standardizing court practices and procedures to ensure that all Californians have equal access to participate in court proceedings and are treated fairly.

The CJER Advisory Committee consists of judicial officers and court executives who direct 9 curriculum committees to identify educational needs and develop content priorities. Each curriculum committee includes judicial officers and court staff who are subject matter experts. CJER staff apply current principles of adult education to design high-quality products that meet long-term Judicial Branch goals, use public funds responsibly, and incorporate recent changes in the law.

Education is designed and delivered on a 2-year planning cycle to meet the Judicial Branch's shifting educational needs. Unconscious bias and cultural competency content are integrated into products across all subjects. CJER offers live education, both in-person and remote, that emphasizes interactivity and a learner-centered approach. CJER Online contains in-depth distance education resources, including videos, webinars, podcasts, job aids, bench tools, publications, program materials, and online courses.
