Lesson Plan: The Power of the Press

Context of the unit:

This unit is designed to focus on the fifth grade standards in Social Science and Visual Art. These include: student learning, analysis, and understanding of historical documents (The Constitution and Bill of Rights). Students begin to understand the significance of events and historical figures (as seen through case law studies) in shaping what we have as a government today. Students will also learn about, experiment with, and critique visual art skills related to historical documentation, media persuasion, and how art can be both a catalyst and a reflection of our society.

Context of the lesson within the unit:

This standards-based lesson is one of several on the Constitution and the Bill of Rights in fifth grade. Students will understand our rights and how the legal system functions through the lens of an actual historical trial, The Haymarket Case of 1886 that showcases the different checks and balances with the system. Students will understand how the media influenced public opinion and influenced the court’s decision.

Standards Addressed: History Social Science

3. Understand the fundamental principles of American constitutional democracy, including how the government derives its power from the people and the primacy of individual liberty.

4. Understand how the constitution is designed to secure our liberty by both empowering and limiting central government and compare the powers granted to citizens, congress, the president, and the Supreme Court with those reserved to the states.

5. Discuss the meaning of the American creed that calls on citizens to safeguard the liberty of individual Americans within a unified nation, to respect the rule of law, and to preserve the Constitution.
Standards Addressed: Visual Art

2.7 Communicate values, opinions, or personal insights through an original work of art.

4.1 Identify how selected principles of design are used in a work of art and how they affect personal responses to and evaluation of the work of art.

Common Core State Standards for ENGLISH LANGUAGE ARTS & Literacy in History/Social Studies, Science, and Technical Subjects K-5

College and Career Readiness Anchor Standards for Writing K-5

Text Types and Purposes

1. Write arguments to support claims in an analysis of substantive topics or texts, using valid reasoning and relevant and sufficient evidence.

Objective(s):

Students will deepen their understanding of integral historical events, persons, and documents in shaping our rights and freedoms as citizens today.

Students will deepen understanding of how the branches of government and media influence our liberty.

Students will begin to develop and apply skills in using visual arts as a form of communication.
Lesson Plan: The Power of the Press

Big Idea(s):

• The political process involves participation; understanding requires student engagement. (Integration and application of new learning in multiple learning modalities helps students deepen understanding).

• The strength of a democracy is equal to the strength of its citizens. (We must understand, participate in, and further develop our system of government to ensure democracy).

• E Pluribus Unum: out of many, one. (From a variety of sources and experiences, we have developed a successful government and legal system).

Essential Questions/Issues:

1. What does it mean to be an American citizen?

2. Is citizenship a right or a responsibility?

3. Does social capital strengthen a republic?

Higher Order Thinking Questions:

• Do you think the media influences court cases too much today? (Evaluation, Synthesis)

• Do you believe it is possible for the judicial system to maintain its independence from political views, public pressure, and the media? Why or why not? (Evaluation, Synthesis)

• How do court cases affect the strength of our democracy? (Synthesis, Analysis)
Lesson Plan: The Power of the Press

Assessment: Students will be evaluated through informal checks for understanding, teacher observation, self-reflections, and performing an authentic task (GRASP) evaluated by a rubric. (See rubric and GRASP)

Furthermore, the authors, the Judicial Council, the AOC, and the Court Programs and Services Division/CPAS do not provide any warranties regarding the currency or accuracy of the information in these works. Users are reminded to check the subsequent history of any case and changes to statutes and Rules of Court cited in the works before relying on them. These works are provided for the personal noncommercial use of teachers and may not be used for any other purpose without the written permission of the authors.
Beyond 25 minutes
Segue into how this case showed media influencing the courts. Could this happen today? Look at Cheney cartoon...discuss as table groups.

Hand out reflections...“Do you think the media influences court cases too much today? What is your opinion? Explain your thinking...”

Discuss as whole group...

Close: depends on pt. of view

Write a reflection of new understandings.

10 minutes

Students present their designs and why the choices were made to show pt. of view persuasively in art.

Special Needs of students are considered in this lesson:
Students are put into flexible grouping scenarios that will benefit learning for all types of learners and special needs. Hands-on learning with plenty of visuals, opportunities for movement, verbal, written, and nonverbal expression, and multiple learning modalities are available within the context of this lesson. The opportunity for student choice creates an embedded differentiation opportunity as well as student ownership of learning.

Extension Ideas:
Students can recreate court case reading transcripts from the www.law.umkc.edu website address.

Students can debate current political cartoon content

Students find current local articles about cases that have a possible impact on our rights as citizens.

What went wrong?

The Haymarket Case of 1886
Police were sent to round up the most vocal protestors and arrest them...

Whether they were in a position to have committed the crime or not…

Jury Selection

- How do we select juries now?
- How did they select the jury?
How did they select the jury?

- Citizens’ names
- Inside…

Barrel method, most commonly used… but not this time!
How did they select the jury?

- Judge sent the bailiff to
  - FIND jurors for this case.
The Influence of the Media

- Anti-labor, wealthy class, owners of newspapers ran stories and cartoons depicting those arrested as...
  - animals,
  - dangerous,
  - evil…
Cartoons from Anti-labor Papers

Lady Justice Deals with "Anarchist Agitator"
Cartoons from Anti-labor Papers

“The Friends of Mad Dogs”
Cartoon from a Pro-labor publication

“Justice Hurling a Bomb...”
Your mission today…

- Create a political cartoon about the Haymarket Trial featuring one defendant from either a pro or anti-labor viewpoint

- Include all traits of political cartooning
  - (caption, point of view, images and labels, setting, line and texture, use of emphasis)
Decisions to make...

- Are you pro-labor or anti-labor?
  Pro (for the workers)
  Anti (against the workers)

- Which defendant will you portray in your cartoon?
  (Are the defendants “good guys” or “bad guys”?)
More decisions...

- What caption will help the viewer understand your position?
- Will labels be needed as well as images?
- What emphasis will be placed where?
- What setting will you have?
How do I know I’m successful?

- There is a clear pro or anti-labor viewpoint expressed
- Defendant is easily identifiable in a positive or negative way
- Cartoonist’s opinion is expressed in a caption
- Image uses emphasis for effect
- Line and texture are used in a variety of ways
Modern Day Political Cartooning
The Media Today…

- Does the media have too much influence on court cases today?
