COMMENT:

Why has not a state of emergency been declared for California's judicial system, including immediate action to implement the reasonable recommendations of the SEC Report?
Has not our judicial leadership recognized that courts up and down California are no longer functioning as we have known throughout our professional lifetimes?
Has not thoughtful consideration been given to the significant operational and personal impacts felt in virtually every courtroom in this State by the numerous terminations and dislocations of court staff?
Is our judicial leadership aware of the bewilderment expressed daily in our trial courtrooms by attorneys whose livelihoods and clients' interests are affected by the foot dragging on the SEC recommendations?
These questions have an answer: we need immediate, responsible leadership and action to ensure the integrity and viability of California's judicial system.
