What is arbitration?

Arbitration is when a neutral person (an arbitrator) hears evidence from each side and then makes a decision (award) in your case. It is less formal than a trial in court.

Do I have to use arbitration for this dispute?

In most cases, yes. The only exceptions are:

- Parties who did not sign an agreement to arbitrate fee disputes and
- Clients who do not want to use arbitration. The attorney must use arbitration if the client asks for it.

What is nonbinding arbitration?

Nonbinding arbitration allows you or the other side to ask for a trial if either of you does not like the arbitrator's decision. You have 30 days after the notice is mailed to ask for a trial.

What is binding arbitration?

Binding arbitration means you and the other side gave up your right to a trial and must accept the arbitrator's decision. Your arbitration is binding if:

- Both sides agreed to binding arbitration in writing (after they disagreed about fees or costs) or
- 30 days or more have gone by since the nonbinding decision was mailed.

What if I agree with the award?

If your award is nonbinding and the other party does not file papers asking for a trial, the award becomes binding in 30 days.

If the award is binding and it says the other party owes you money, send a letter asking to be paid within a reasonable time. If you don't get paid, ask the court to "confirm" the award. This allows you to ask the court to order payment from the other party's paycheck, bank accounts or property. You must do this within 4 years after the notice of award. (See page 1, item 5a.)

What if I am not happy with the award?

You can ask the court to correct the award if it contains an obvious mistake in calculating a number or describing a person, thing, or property. (See page 1, item 5b.)

You can ask the court to vacate (cancel) the award if certain kinds of misconduct or mistakes happened in the arbitration. (See page 1, item 5c.)

You can reject the award and ask for a trial if you and the other party did not agree in writing to binding arbitration. (See page 1, item 5d.)

How long do I have to ask for a trial?

You have up to 30 days after the date the Notice of Award was mailed to you. Look for the date on the bottom of the notice. If you do not ask for a trial within 30 days, the award will become binding.

How long do I have to ask the court to vacate or correct the award?

In most cases you have up to 100 days after the date the Notice of Award was mailed to you. But if the other side asks the court to confirm, correct, or vacate the award, you must ask the court to correct or vacate the award before the court's deadline to answer the other side's request. Your Small Claims Advisor can give you more information on court deadlines.

Which court do I use for a trial or to confirm, correct, or vacate the award?

If a lawsuit has already been filed about the fee disagreement, file your papers in the same court and use same case number as in that lawsuit. (Before filing, you must serve all parties named in the claim.)

If no lawsuit has been filed about the fee disagreement, file in the court of the county where the arbitration was held and ask for a trial or ask the court to confirm, correct, or vacate the award.

- If the amount in disagreement is $5,000 or less, file in small claims court. Use Forms SC-100 and SC-101.
- If the amount in disagreement is more than $5,000, file in superior court. See Form ADR-105.

What if an attorney doesn't pay the award?

If an attorney doesn't pay the award, the State Bar can help you. If you don't receive the award in 100 days after receiving the Notice of the Award, or if the award becomes a final judgment, contact the State Bar at:
