The thoughtful, extensive and detailed work of Judge Wachob and the others on the SEC Committee provides a starting point for action on all fronts. It takes times to implement any change. It will take extensive effort and organization to implement the needed changes that have been identified. While a thoughtful approach to implementation of any change is best. A lack of action, also frequently referred to as further study of the problem, is rarely helpful. Establishing various working groups in each of the identified areas to begin to outline the steps that need to be taken immediately would appear to be the next step in implementing the necessary changes in structure and culture of the AOC and the Courts.

I know that we are all ready to pitch in and get the job done.
