

From: O'Rourke, Terry
To: Invitations
Subject: SEC recommendations
Date: Sunday, July 22, 2012 2:33:04 PM

The judiciary has been burdened by an overstaffed and overpaid AOC for too long. All of the SEC recommendations should be implemented immediately. The widespread perception is the Judicial Council is largely comprised of handpicked stooges, luxuriously wined and dined into a state of somnolence, while the AOC runs amok. In view of it's dismal record of oversight, I am skeptical that the Judicial Council, as presently constituted, will act. My proposal: amend the Constitution to provide for a Council elected by the judiciary and consisting of one Justice of the Supreme Court, two Justices of the Court of Appeal, and four judges of the Superior Court.

Sent from my iPhone