News on the Equal Access Project

- Given the enormous interest in, and appreciation for, Rhea Yoo's email to the listserv discussing service of process issues with Mexico, we created a Word document available at <http://www.courts.ca.gov/partners/documents/EA-CrossNatl-InfoResearchYoo-11-2014.docx> with the research prepared by Rhea and staff.
- Find other helpful information and materials by clicking on Cross-National Issues.

We are continuing our efforts to revamp the Instructional Materials section of Equal Access. Thanks to your help, we have taken down outdated materials and have begun uploading those you have sent to us over the past few months. We are also still working on reorganizing the site to improve its usability. We will continue to provide more updates to you as we make more significant progress in this area. As always, if you have feedback you have not yet shared with us, please do so. Finally, if there are any materials you would like assistance in developing or translating, or if you want to find out what other courts have done and cannot find the information on these sites, please feel free to contact bonnie.hough@jud.ca.gov.

Commission on the Future of California’s Court System Seeks Input on California Court System

Deadline to complete survey: December 5 SAN FRANCISCO—The Commission on the Future of California’s Court System created an online survey to seek broad input on recommendations to improve the California court system. The Commission is soliciting suggestions from the public, attorneys, judicial officers, court staff, law enforcement and all branch stakeholders on ways to make the California judicial branch more efficient and effective.

“The commission is particularly interested in identifying outdated laws, systems, or practices and proposals for new approaches, such as the use of technology, that will improve court services and save time and resources in the long term,” said Justice Carol A. Corrigan, an associate justice of the California Supreme Court and chair of the commission. “The goal of the survey is to ensure that we’re focused on today’s most pressing priorities. All ideas are welcome.”

The deadline to complete the online survey is Friday, December 5. Please refer any questions to FuturesCommission@jud.ca.gov.
